Southern Evangelist, David J. Fant, Will Conduct Meetings

FOR ONE WEEK

Pastors of Other Churches Announce Their Themes For Tomorrow

WHY GO TO CHURCH?

By Rev. George F. Hess
Pastor, Bristol M. E. Church.
"Ye are the salt of the earth," was spoken by Christ to His followers. There are two kinds of substances that are used in dealing with corruption. They are called "aseptics" and "antiseptics." An "antiseptic" is used to arrest corruption after it begins. An "aseptic" is used as a preventative before corruption begins. Salt is an "aseptic." We use salt on fresh meat to keep it sweet and good.

The Church is the salt of the earth. It prevents the corruption of the civilization in which we are living. A New York Judge some time since stated that 95% of the juvenile offenders that are brought before him have had no connection with the Church or Sunday School. It is the Church and the influence that clusters around it that saves the community from disorder and chaos.

We always feel safer if there is a Church nearby. We go into business deals with more assurance if the men with whom we are dealing are members of the Church. We prefer to vote for a candidate for office if he is a consistent Church member. We feel if the Churches were holding rightful sway in the nations of the world, we might well conclude that wars would cease. Why not unite with some Church and support it. You need the Church. The Church needs You.

The engineer evangelist, David J. Fant, of Atlanta, Georgia, will commence a series of special meetings at the Oaklihurst Chapel, Durham Road, South Langhorne, beginning tomorrow.

There will be two sermons tomorrow by the Georgian, one at 10:30 a. m. and the second at 7:45 p. m. Each night next week Mr. Fant will give messages at 7:45 o'clock. On Sunday, February 2nd, he will address the gathering at 10:30 a. m., three and 7:45 p. m.

Mr. Fant has been 33 years with the Southern Railroad, and is considered one of the best engineers on the line. The company has placed a bronze Bible on the front of his engine with the text "Thy Word is Truth." He is granted a leave of absence by the company occasionally in order to fill engagements.

Survivor of Tui's Discovery Party

Tom Terriss, of Hollywood, is one of the last five survivors of the party of noted explorers, finders of King Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb. Other members of the party have perished tragically, many of them mysteriously. A legend has grown that the whole party was doomed—cursed by the spirit of the ancient king.

DEL. VALLEY GRANGE INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS

Ceremonies Held at Fallsington Community House, Wednesday Evening

PERSONAL NEWS NOTES

EMILIE, Jan. 18.—The officers installed in the Delaware Valley Grange Wednesday evening at Fallsington Community House with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Crowell, of Buckingham, officiating, were: Master, Joseph A. Smith; overseer, Walter Campbell, Sr.; lecturer, Elizabeth Winder; steward, Albert Kellett; assistant steward, Walter Campbell, Jr.; chaplain, Armand Stevens; treasurer, Jennie Moon; secretary, Anna Wright; gatekeeper, Joseph C. Winder; Ceres, Agnes Walker; Pomona, Eva Stevens; Flora, Nancy Kellett; lady assistant steward, Liddy Kellett.

Charles Hibbs, a former resident of Emilie, was buried in the Emilie churchyard Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Campbell attended the funeral of their friend, Mrs. Spears, of Philadelphia on Monday.

Miss Liddle Wilson, of Emilie, and Mrs. Jennie Sthen and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith and son, Alvin, of Fallsington, were Saturday evening guests of Mr. Smith's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, of Trenton.

Miss Liddle Wilson spent Wednesday afternoon at the home of her aunt, Mrs. W. W. Blinn.

Mr. Arthur Sterling was a Wednesday evening caller at the home of Mr. Mrs. Walter Campbell.

Mr. Frank Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Leo L. Lynn, of Edgely, were recent callers of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis V. Cox.

Mrs. Lewis V. Cox was a Thursday afternoon caller of Mrs. C. Willis Hibbs.

Injuries Sustained by Man From Hulmeville Early Today

HULMEVILLE, Jan. 18.—A Hulmeville man was hurt while enroute to his employment in Trenton, N. J., early this morning.

The injured, Horace Cox, Sr., Bellevue avenue, dislocated hip, deep cut on forehead and bruises.

A young colored man, Alphonso Sharp, who accompanied Cox in his sedan, also received cuts. The two were taken to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, by passersby, where they are being treated.

The accident is said to have occurred when the Cox car was sideswiped by a truck, causing it to strike a third vehicle.

WILL BROADCAST

The Martini Trio, Bristol musicians, and Madame Madeline, soloist, a former resident of Tullytown, will broadcast tomorrow night from station WOAX in Trenton at 9:30 o'clock. The Martini Trio consists of R. Joseph Martini, violinist; Leonard Martini, 'celloist; and Miss Hilda MacArthur, Edgely, pianist. The same trio is expected to broadcast Saturday, January 25th, from station WIP.

ADDITIONAL FACILITIES

Additional accommodations have been provided for the patrons of the Bristol Trust Company by additional windows for receiving tellers and Christmas Club patrons. There are now two windows for receiving tellers and two for Christmas Club clerks. This greatly facilitates the handling of the business of these two departments.

SLIGHT FIRES

Consolidated Fire Department answered two alarms yesterday. One was a slight fire at 230 Harrison street and the other was at the farm of Ralph Powell, Bristol Township.

Mrs. Mary York, of Langhorne, was a Thursday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Arnold, of Cedar street.

TULLYTOWN BOWS TWICE IN CAGE TILTS

Defeated by Bristol Y. M. A. And the Trenton Adelines

BOTH CONTESTS SLOW

TULLYTOWN, Jan. 18.—Tullytown A. C. basketball five lost both ends of a twin bill last night in Mont's Hall, here.

In the first game the Tullytowners bowed to the Bristol Y. M. A., 56-18. In the second they were overwhelmed by the Trenton Adelines, 40-28.

Against the Bristol Y. M. A. the Tullytown five did not have a show and at no time was in the run for victory.

"Reds" Bailey and "Dates" Pegley, for the Y. M. A., made forty-one points between them. Bailey, however, scored all his points from the field while Pegley accounted for seven twin-pointers and five free shots.

Dominick Pirolli was best for Tullytown with eight points.

The boys were somewhat tired when they went up against the strong team from Trenton and did not attain the same spirit that carried them through many victories earlier in the season.

Wranick and Kutenite were the best in this battle accounting for twenty-one tallies between them and most of them from hard angles of the floor.

"Russ" Carmen did his best for Tullytown, scoring eight times from the floor.

Next Tuesday night, Tullytown A. C. plays Morrisville A. C. and the Tullytown Reserves plays Penn's Manor.

Col. John W. Tucker To Visit Robert Bracken Post

At the regular monthly meeting of Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion, to be held in the Post rooms on Tuesday evening, Col. John W. Tucker will be the speaker.

Colonel Tucker is a soldier of note, having seen service not only in the World War when he was a Divisional Commander, but in the numerous campaigns of the British Army in their many possessions.

The Colonel is not only a soldier but a scholar, and is very much in demand as a speaker, and the ex-servicemen of Bristol are very fortunate in having him as their guest.

It is hoped by the Post officers that the members will greet him with a good turnout. In addition there will be an entertainment.

Scotty Rankin, of New York City, spent Saturday and Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Albert Taylor, of Roosevelt street.

RELIGION IN RUSSIA IS CRUSHED AND THE HOME IS IN TRANSITORY STAGE --- NEVER HAS THERE BEEN LESS GENUINE PERSONAL FREEDOM, SAYS FRAZER HUNT

There Never Has Been Such A Spy System, Says Author, and Never Has There Been A Government So Centralized and Autocratic — Life Never Harder or More Cruel

(In this, the third of the series of six articles on conditions in Russia today, which Frazier Hunt, famous war correspondent and magazine writer has written especially for the Courier and other client newspapers of International News Service, Mr. Hunt makes some comparisons between Soviet Russia and the United States.)

By Frazier Hunt

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Russia today is in the midst of a new Red revolution. It is more radical, more red, harder and vastly more uncompromising than the revolution of the intellectual Lenin. Stalin and his crowd who sit in the Kremlin do represent the unconscious spirit and will of the vast majority of Russia. Russia is Red and doesn't know it—but Stalin and the thousand leaders know it. Communism rests squarely on the unexpressed wish and will of Russia.

The Russian has crystallized. It is a fact today; it is no longer a theory. No longer are there great possibilities. The revolution itself has been mechanized—it is the hardened will of millions. Stalin—the one figure whose name is in common circulation—is only the symbol of Communism. It is "the party" that counts. Stalin could disappear tomorrow and the Soviet union would roll on without a break. Gone are the great inspirers, the Lenins and Trotskys. It is the will, the spirit that counts today.

Russia is still cruel and intolerant. Never has there been such a spy system, nor such an actuality of terror. Never has there been so little genuine personal freedom. Never has there been a government so centralized and autocratic. Never has life been harder and crueler. Religion is crushed and the home is in a transitory stage.

These are the facts of Russia—the trees that keep the observer from seeing the Russian forest. But the great truth and the great forest of Russia are there.

And this great truth is that Russia is booming ahead. She is a going concern. Her philosophy of Communism is a new "religion"—a forceful, vital, militant religion—and her young men and women are crusaders out to win the world.

Almost eleven years ago when it was in Moscow she thought she could do it with bayonets. Now she knows she must do it by ideas. She no longer dreams of conquering the world—she dreams of converting the world. She is training engineers, not soldiers.

And to do all this she turns to her greatest potential rival and enemy. No two countries in the world are so genuinely similar as America and Russia. They are comparable in size, in wealth of land and mines, rivers and forests; they are both dreamers; they belong to the future, to the new world. The good life for this common man is the deep and fundamental dream of both.

In one, man's individual efforts are rewarded. Man is to accumulate and store up the rewards of his personal toll and energy and wits. Differences of brains, and work and will are to be proportionately rewarded.

In the other, all classes, all differences of rewards are to be abolished; the State is to own, to manufacture, and to distribute everything; every man is to be the equal and brother of every other man in the world.

And so it is that these two nations at once more closely similar and yet more distantly separated, fight for the soul of the world.

At present, America is far, far ahead. She has caught the imagination of the whole world. She has developed a vastly better life for the common man than any nation at any time in history has done. She moves forward towards an unbelievable and uncalculable perfection of efficiency at high speed.

Russia creaks on in wooden cart on muddy roads—but she moves towards the motor car—the tractor—new efficiency—modern mechanization—new ideas of state production and ownership—new plans of state distribution—new dreams of comfort and happiness.

Russia is learning and will continue to learn tremendous lessons of machinery and personal comforts and decent living from America. But America in turn will unconsciously take certain lessons from Russia—certain ideas of state control, of production, of cooperation, of distribution.

Tomorrow they will struggle for the world.

"Kato Kago."—Which one?—who will win?

Who can give comforts and happiness to all men—Red Russia or white America?

The one that can will win the world of the future.

(In Monday's article Mr. Hunt tells how the Lenin "intellectual" revolution of 1917 fell far short of its goal because, after wresting the factories of the cities from the capitalists and giving them into the hands of the workmen, it was found the workmen did not know how to operate them; after winning the land for the land-hungry peasants, the latter had no ideas or means for making the land more productive of a better living for himself and his family than it had been before. Peasant factory workers and peasant farmer belong to the past.

Then, from out of the golden-domed Kremlin in Moscow, and from out of America came the great idea, "Machinery will do it. Get together. Co-operate—bring in the tractors and modern machinery. Industrialize the land, and comfort and a decent life will be yours."

These were the new promises and the high hopes contained in the five-year plan by which the Soviets hope to transform Russia from a backward nation into the most advanced, productive nation the world has ever known.)

The chairlady of the card party was Miss Sue Strumfels, who, on behalf of the committee, wishes to thank all who attended the party or gave donations. After the cards were over, homemade cake was sold.

JURY QUICKLY GIVES VERDICT IN $50,000 SUIT

Deliberates Two Hours, Then Awards Lloyd B. Hager $10,000.00

END COURT NEXT WEEK

Several of Cases Listed Have Been Settled, Court Is Informed

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 18.—Deliberating two hours a jury in the Court of Common Pleas of Bucks County yesterday afternoon awarded Lloyd B. Hager, of Philadelphia, a former resident of Quakertown, a verdict of $10,000 in his suit for $50,000 against Max Fishman, fifty-eight, prominent Quakertown clothing manufacturer.

The case was on trial before Judge Hiram H. Keller for the past two days. Harry E. Grim, of Perkasie, was the attorney for the plaintiff, while the defendant was represented by Gordon H. Luckenbill, of Quakertown.

In awarding Hager a verdict of $10,000, which is many times the amount of money earned by him when he was employed in the Fishman factory before he was discharged, the jury placed their stamp of approval of the testimony of the plaintiff's witnesses.

Mrs. Minnie B. Hager, thirty, wife of the plaintiff and mother of a family of several children, testified that Fishman, fifty-eight, assaulted her in the storage room of his factory during the noon hour, on August 6, 1928. She testified that very few people were in the factory at the time and that she did not inform her husband of the assault until several months because she was afraid that her husband would kill her.

Both Mrs. Hager and her husband quit work at the Fishman factory in 1928 when another employee of the plant, Morris Falkowitz, reported that he had found Mrs. Hager and Fishman together in the storage room on the date in question.

After the verdict was announced Attorney Luckenbill made a motion for a new trial.

The present term of civil court will be completed next week. Judge Keller will hear the remainder of the cases. Owing to the illness of lawyers and witnesses a large number of cases were continued yesterday until the next term of court.

In the case of Edmund Donnelly and Ruth Donnelly, of Wilkes-Barre, against Joseph G. Boess, Sr., of Philadelphia, a jury in civil court awarded Donnelly $175 damages and his wife $100. The suit was brought following an automobile accident on the Lackawanna Trail near Kintnersville on August 19, 1928.

Announcement was made of the settlement of the following cases: Benjamin W. Eisenbrey vs. Norman Worthington (trespass); S. S. P. Wetmore vs. Leon M. Wajdyk (trespass); William R. Boal vs. Leroy Hess and Florence Hess (appeal); Fred J. Henry vs. Elmer F. Merz (trespass); M. LeRoy Sebring vs. Elmer F. Merz (trespass); Catherine Zakutynsky vs. Fred Phillips (alias capias); A. R. Reid Creamery and Dairy vs. N. Buckner & Sons (appeal).

In the case of William Nealsmith, of Somerton, against Joseph J. Somers, of Southampton township, Judge Shull directed a non-suit.

COMPLEXITIES OF RADIO

If federal radio control has proved anything it is that radio broadcasting and reception are amenable to natural laws only. They are above man-made laws.

Complaint of members of the senate interstate commerce committee that the federal radio commission has violated the radio control law in allocating wave lengths and broadcasting territory is met by the defense that literal compliance with the statute would be ruinous to reception.

What congress has attempted to do is to place arbitrary limitations on the traveling distances of the ether waves. The national legislators have authorized the radio commission to command the waves radiating from broadcasting stations to halt at a boundary fixed by act of congress. Allah is great and congress is powerful, but ether waves halt for no man.

Congress divided the country into five zones on a basis of theoretical equality. Short experience proved that radio zones are not born equal. The law fails to take into account natural conditions that promote or interfere with reception in various sections. Mississippi Valley reception is better than that of New England where granite absorption is an obstacle. Conditions on the planes are not the same as those in mountainous regions. Yet there is one law for all.

This is the problem before congress in considering proposed amendments to the radio control act.

INCOME

In an ideal economic state the income of every family would exceed fair living costs and leave something over for creating an estate. The ideal is far from attainment and wages and salaries the seasonal employment, unemployment and wages and salaries that fall short of meeting the demand of the ideal. To say that it is unattainable is another thing, something no one cares to believe or admit.

A National Industrial Conference Board survey finds that a couple with two minor children can live comfortably in Marion, O., for $1,442 a year and in New York City for $1,660. These are the average incomes in the two communities an represent the two extremes of the survey.

When the earnings of the husband are below the means of the family demands a living above the standard maintained by that mean the wife usually seeks gainful occupation to augment the family income. This explains largely the entrance of woman into productive industry.

One income and one standard of living cannot be labeled adequate and applied to all families of a class. One family can live contentedly on an income another family on the same social plane would find woefully inadequate. What constitutes a high standard of living each must interpret for himself, and no two persons give the same definition.

Raising a family costs almost as much as it is worth.

One-half the world can't see why the other half lives.

There are many gasoline saving devices on the market. A pair of comfortable shoes is the best.

SYNOPSIS

Joe Lane, ex-pugilist, song plugger, and hit of the Q&A radio station, and his wife, Katherine, have one child, Little Pal, whom they both adore. Joe, believing Arthur Phillips, manager of the station, to be his best friend, has just accepted a big contract from him, not knowing that Phillips is in love with Katherine. The girl is furious, but fears to inform Joe lest he quarrel with the manager. Joe, a careless, irresponsible person, is always making engagements with Katherine and forgetting them. This day, however, Katherine becomes angry, threatening to leave him. Joe is packing and bidding Little Pal good-bye.

"What I couldn't be, Little Pal, I want you to be, Little Pal..."

Joe's voice was hoarse, thick in his throat.
"I'm putting my faith and my hopes all in you.
To do all the things that you're dad couldn't do.
I'll pray every night, Little Pal. That you turn out right, Little Pal..."

He squeezed the child closer, swallowing the lump that was fast rising in his throat. The tears spilled unheeded over his eyelids and ran down his cheeks. The words came faltering, broken. The baby's hands clutched his neck, soft against his rougher skin.

"I'll kill the rat!"

"If some day you should be... on a new daddy's knee..."

Don't forget... about me... Little Pal."

The song trailed off into silence, and choking sobs sounded quietly in the silent room.

CHAPTER V

Katherine's footsteps lagged. She made vague gestures of trying to clear away the dishes on the dining room table, but her feet were as heavy as her heart, and she caught herself time and again standing, staring at a pile of silver and china, not knowing where she had meant to put it.

She tip-toed into the living room and over to the bedroom door. She paused, hesitated. The sound of Joe's voice crooning his song to Little Pal was wafted faintly to her ears. Quietly she opened the door the fraction of an inch; paused again; then opened the door wider and stepped gently across the baby's bedroom to the one beyond. Peering round she could just see Joe with the child in his arms. She could hear his voice breaking as he sang.

"That is swell, Daddy." The baby's voice clutched at her heart strings. Silently she turned away and went back to the living room.
"Now let's go to bed," Joe settled the child more firmly in his arms and came out into the adjoining bedroom. "Good night, Little Pal." Tenderly he kissed the boy and laid him down on the bed, pulling the covers about him for the last time; touching the chubby, pink hands, the silky hair for the last time.

"What you crying for, Daddy?" Junior demanded.
"I'm not really crying," Joe assured the boy. "Daddy's only sorry because he has to go away and leave you and mother. And while Daddy's gone you must be good to mother." Joe admonished. "Because you've got the best mother in the world."

"Aw right, Daddy." Joe turned away quickly and went back to the other bedroom. Without even looking at them, he seized the clothes on the bed and flung them into the satchel and clicked the lock shut. He picked up the bag and started towards the living room.

At the 10.45 a. m. service on Sunday the rector will dedicate a new altar service book, in memory of Adolph and Mary Ancker, the gift of their children, also two new chancel prayer books in memory of Ambrose Petty and of Charles and Florence Petty.

The rector requests that those who ordered prayer books from Mr. Burtenwood, get them from him so that the same can be paid for with those purchased for use in the church.

Hulmeville M. E. Church

Ford

SUPERIORITY

Two years ago, when the new Ford was first introduced, the Ford Motor Company made the statement that the new Model A would be "superior in design and performance to any other car available in the low-price field." The record of the past two years shows that the prediction of 1927 has become an accomplished fact.

More than two and a half million new Fords have been built within twenty-four months. The first million cars were made between October 29, 1927, and February 4, 1929—a period of fifteen months during which production was constantly increased as new methods brought increased efficiency and precision in manufacturing.

So great were the results of these new methods that it took but six months to build the second million new Fords. Other records have been made since then.

So we enter a new year in which we feel Ford's superiority will again be demonstrated and further records established. Stop in or call Bristol 58 for a demonstration of these new Fords.

Vice-President Curtis To Address Graduates

Vice-President Curtis will be the principal speaker at the graduating exercises of the Sixty-fourth class of Peirce School of Business Administration, on Wednesday evening, January 23, 1930, at the historic Academy of Music, Philadelphia.

His participation in the Peirce School exercises will mark his first public appearance in Philadelphia since he was elected vice-president of the United States.

Louis B. Moffett, director of the school, will open the exercises by presenting Hon. Harry A. Mackey, mayor of Philadelphia, who will serve as the presiding officer of the evening. Prayer will be offered by Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, after which Vice-President Curtis will deliver his address. The diplomas will then be presented to the members of the graduating class by Professor John A. Luman, vice-principal of the school.

The appearance of Vice-President Curtis before the graduates leaves unbroken a tradition of Peirce School in having high public officials and citizens distinguished in politics, in science, literature and in philanthropy, as its commencement day orators.

Four Presidents of the United States, a Vice-President, a Speaker of the House, Senators and Representatives, Governors of States, and practically all of the great orators of the last fifty years, have delivered addresses at Peirce School commencements.

Benjamin Harrison and Grover Cleveland each made their first public appearance after leaving the White House, at Peirce School commencement exercises.

Theodore Roosevelt made one of his last addresses before a graduating class of the school, and Chief Justice Taft, another former President, addressed the Peirce School graduates in 1914.

The class will consist of nearly 400 graduates, representing many States of the Union and a number of foreign countries.

LIQUOR CONTROL IN CANADA

To the Editor of the Public Ledger:

Sir—On November 15 I wrote the editor of the Globe, of Toronto, Canada, asking him several questions concerning the workings of the Government control system in operation in the Province of Ontario. I am sending you my questions and his answers:

First. Is it your opinion that Government control makes for real temperance? No.

Second. Does Government control decrease or increase the consumption of liquor? Liquor consumption has doubled in Ontario in two years.

Third. Does Government control decrease or increase number of drunken drivers of automobiles? Drunken drivers have multiplied by ten, while cars doubled.

Fourth. Have deaths from accidents due to drunken drivers increased under Government control? Yes; enormously.

Fifth. Have industrial accidents decreased under Government control? No; increasing seven per cent faster than payrolls.

Sixth. Has Government control eliminated the bootlegger? Large bootlegger eliminated, but small bootlegger multiplied.

Seventh. Has Government control proved any benefit to the young people? No.

GIFFORD GORDON.
Philadelphia, December 29, 1929.

Amid the shouts and cheers of the Bristol rooters and admirers the high school quintet scored its first triumph by overwhelming Newtown high here last night. The final score of the game was 31-8.

A fast passing attack enabled the locals to gain a big lead at half time. Green, Dries, Alta and Dougherty, headed the first triumph Bristol gained this season. Coach Townsend felt so confident of victory that he replaced the first squad with the junior varsity in the last few minutes of the game. This squad gave the crowd a big surprise when it kept Newtown from scoring and obtained a field goal made by "Shorty" Strump. They played an active and fast game throughout the remainder of the game.

Next Tuesday the high school teams will meet Ambler at the local "gym."

Alleged Baby Slayer Faces Chair

UNFORTUNATE COINCIDENCE—Gladys Parks had disposed of the bodies. Witness after witness fails to alter her stolid demeanor. She admits that her life has been a questionable one, that she has wandered far from the straight and narrow, she admits that she has had many lovers, but never a husband, she admits having been a frequenter of questionable resorts at Atlantic City and other places, but she will not admit being the direct cause of the death of the two children left in her care. She will not alter or amplify the statement made by her on November 9 to Prosecutor Baldwin and other officials of Camden, N. J., after she had surrendered to the authorities there. She then stated that she had struck Dorothy for some childish misdeed and that the child fell to the floor, and later she realized that the child was dead.

Timmy, she says, fell down a flight of stairs, and she maintains that the fall was a fatal one. All efforts of the State to disprove her statements have been unsuccessful and every ruse calculated to shake her stolid demeanor has failed. Her father, the father of the children have confronted her, but to no avail. Although many witnesses remain to be called including her father, George Parks, and Anthony Baka, her common-law husband who urged her to surrender, Judge Frank T. Lloyd hopes to send the case to the jury very shortly. The State asks a first degree conviction, but her counsel, Samuel Orlando, is confident that she will not be convicted on the evidence so far introduced. In fact, he is confident of acquittal for his client.

Dollar for dollar -the new CHEVROLET SIX is a sensational value!

Every investigation of the new Chevrolet Six must lead to a single definite conclusion—dollar for dollar, it offers more than ever before!

More Performance—for the new Chevrolet has a great six-cylinder valve-in-head engine—increased to 50 horsepower.

More Comfort—for the four long semi-elliptic springs are under the cushioned control of Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers!

More Safety—for the braking system has been re-designed . . . with fully-enclosed, internal-expanding, weather-proof brakes!

More Beauty—for the new bodies are built by Fisher . . . with all the style, smartness and distinction for which the Fisher name is famous!

More Stamina—for the new Chevrolet has a stronger rear axle, a heavier crankshaft and a sturdier transmission!

More Value—for the new Chevrolet is a smoother, faster, better Six—yet it sells in the price range of the four!

If you are considering the purchase of a low-priced car—come in and see for yourself that the Chevrolet Six gives you more for your money than ever before!
